

Inquest Into Death of Ira Bell Adjourned

Until January 10 in Order to Take Testimony of Several Persons—Heart Trouble Appears to Have Caused His Death.

The inquest held before Coroner W. N. Connor at Ellenville Tuesday to inquire into the cause of death of Ira Bell at Mombaccus on November 17, was adjourned after several witnesses had been sworn until January 10, in order to take testimony of several persons who may know something of the case.

Bell it appears was a sufferer from heart trouble and had complained of short breath on numerous occasions. On the day in question he rode with two other men to Kyserke where they secured a manure spreader and then started home. On a hill the spreader broke loose from the motor truck and backed down the hill. The car was also stalled and in the mix-up the car backed down the hill and pinned Bell to the bank. He was somewhat injured at the time but the opinion appears to be that he over-exerted himself and caused his heart to become overtaxed. On returning home to the Smith place he died. Heart trouble was given as the cause of death in the death certificate. Coroner Humiston asked for an investigation on the grounds that there had been no autopsy upon the body and he was not satisfied as to the real cause of death.

There appears to be every indication however that heart trouble was the cause of death although Bell had been injured in the affair. Assistant District Attorney Murray appeared for The People at the inquest and conducted the investigation.

Pekin Actions Sent to Jury

P. & M. Brick Company Awarded $232.50—Verdict of $645.88 For Archie Grant—Jury Taken in Action to Foreclose a Mechanic's Lien.

In supreme court this morning the charge to the jury and summation by counsel took up a greater part of the morning session of court and the negligence actions brought by Henry Pekin and wife against John W. Scott was not sent to the jury until near noon.

An inquest was taken in the case of P. & M. Brick Manufacturing Company, Inc., against Bichler Brick Corporation, an action on contract. The defendant put in no defense. Plaintiff alleged the defendant purchased 31,500 brick and two barrels of red ochre from plaintiff in August, 1927. A verdict in the sum of $232.50 was directed. Arthur B. Ewig appeared for plaintiff.

No. 171, Archie Grant against Belle Bart, who later married and became Mrs. J. Clarke Dulaney also proved to be an inquest. Plaintiff testified he had been engaged by Belle Bart on her farm near the Ulster-Sullivan county line as superintendent at $100 a month. He worked for a time and was continued under Mrs. Dulaney and her husband's direction but between May, 1926, and December, 1926, he received no wages except $192, which he retained from the sale of ducks. He sued to recover for wages and for monies advanced for help and supplies. A verdict for $645.88 was directed. Cleon B. Murray appeared for plaintiff.

A jury was then taken in an action to foreclose a mechanic's lien brought by Troy Magnesite Products, Inc., against Mrs. Mary Stockton, Arthur B. Ewig appears for plaintiff and A. J. Cook for defendant.

Aged Man Struck By Automobile

Paul Smith, 75, of Krumville, is at the Kingston Hospital with a dislocated knee cap and other injuries received about 8 o'clock Tuesday evening when he was struck and knocked down by an automobile driven by Percy Mowers of Marlborough. The city ambulance was called and removed the aged man to the Kingston Hospital.

According to the report of the accident as made by Mr. Mowers to the police, he was driving his car along North Front street when Smith stepped out into the road from between two parked automobiles directly in front of his car.

VERY HEAVY EARTHQUAKE RECORDED AT GEORGETOWN

Washington, Dec. 19 (AP)—A "very heavy" earthquake was recorded this morning on the seismograph at Georgetown University. Director Tomford estimated the disturbance was 9,000 miles from Washington. He did not calculate the direction.

The quake reached its maximum intensity at 7:57 o'clock and when the recording sheet of the instrument was removed at 8:15 it was still heavy.

King Continues To Improve

Bulletin States He Had Restful Night and the Slight Improvement Noted Yesterday Continues—Condition Still Regarded Critical.

London, Dec. 19 (AP)—The desperate battle which King George has been waging for his life continued somewhat in his favor today.

This morning's medical bulletin, like the two of yesterday, recorded improvement, even though slight. Despite the fact that His Majesty's gain has been slight, it has been definite and a more hopeful atmosphere prevailed among palace officials in consequence.

This morning's bulletin said: "The King has had a restful night. The slight improvement noted yesterday continues."

On the whole the situation was regarded as favorable and satisfactory although it was emphasized that anxiety continues and must continue for some time. Uninterrupted progress for several days, it was said, would be necessary before real confidence in the outcome can be felt.

The developments of the immediate future are awaited anxiously, the possibility always being present of His Majesty's suffering a setback and losing some of the ground so painfully won during the past two or three days. There was no disposition to minimize the fact that the royal patient's condition still was critical.

It was a month ago today that the public was first informed that the King was ill. It has been a month of deepest anxiety for the nation, as what was first announced to be a feverish cold turned out to be a serious congestion of the lungs and pleurisy.

The critical phase of the illness, which was poisoning the patient's system, apparently was reached on December 2 when the official bulletin reported heart weakness. This period of most anxious suspense continued almost a fortnight until after December 12, when an operation was performed for chest drainage which seemed to have marked the end of the downward trend.

The physicians' consultation at Buckingham Palace this morning lasted about an hour. The Prince of Wales was in the palace while the consultation was being held. He drove away shortly after the doctors' visit. Holding his pet Cairn terrier "Cora" on his lap, he seemed to be in a cheerful mood and motored to the Bath Club to watch the final in the squash racquets championship.

SEARCH HAVANA FOR ROTHSTEIN SLAYER

Havana, Dec. 19 (AP)—Search for the slayer of Arnold Rothstein, New York gambler, had definitely shifted to this city today with almost positive identification of Hyman (Gillie) Biller, wanted in New York for the murder, as Harry Billen, member of a party of three men who stopped at a local hotel from November 15 to November 30, but which checked out to drop from sight.

Not only has Billen been identified as Biller, but Cuban police working on the case with Detective Sergeant Garvey, New York, believe James Quigley, another of the party, was Thomas (Hump) McManus, brother of George McManus, now held in New York in connection with the Rothstein killing.

Identification of Biller came last night when house detectives of the hotel, room clerks and a floor manager viewed a picture brought by Garvey and said it was of the former guest.

Sergeant Garvey told the Associated Press he has no doubt that the registrant at the hotel was Biller.

SPECIAL SESSION OF LEAGUE COUNCIL UNNECESSARY

Paris, Dec. 19 (AP)—Foreign Minister Briand of France, who is president of the League of Nations Council, and Sir Eric Drummond, secretary general of the League, reached an agreement today that peace measures in the western hemisphere had removed the necessity for calling a special session of the League Council.

League officials express belief that the League has been a powerful influence in the present crisis but give great praise to the initiative and success of the Pan-American organization. They think that the League, the Pan-American conference and Argentine all contributed to the anticipated happy outcome of the controversy.

Washington, Dec. 19 (AP)—For the fourth time in seven years twins have been born to Mr. and Mrs. Grover C. Robey here, bringing the number of children in the family to 14. "We missed the unlucky number anyway," Robey said philosophically today. "Doing well," was the report on the mother and the twins, a boy and girl.

Both the mother and father are members of large families. Mrs. Robey is one of thirteen children and her husband one of 18.

Mrs. Coolidge to Visit Her Mother. Washington, Dec. 19 (AP)—Mrs. Coolidge left here today to visit her mother, Mrs. Lemira Goodhue, who is ill at Northampton, Mass. She intends to return for the week end.

Quick Is Held, Car Recovered

Another Chapter in the Story of the Transfer of License Plates From Ford Car to an Essex, Written on Police Blotter in Report From Ogdensburg.

The Ogdensburg police department called up the Kingston police department about 7 o'clock Tuesday evening to report that the Essex car that had been stolen from Albany avenue on Sunday had been recovered there and that the driver of the car, Harry B. Quick of Walden, was being held for the local authorities. Two other young men who were in the car with Quick made their escape.

It was stated that Quick had confessed to Chief Meyers of the Ogdensburg police department that the Essex car was one that had been stolen in Kingston and that he, Quick, was the owner of the abandoned Ford sedan, which is now in possession of Sheriff Arthur Rice, who had it towed to a garage here Sunday night.

This morning Chief Wood had a warrant sworn out for the arrest of Quick and sent an officer after him. Rudolph Branneiser of Newburgh, owner of the stolen Essex car, was also notified and called at police headquarters here this morning in regard to it.

Early Monday morning it was reported to the police here that a Ford car and an Essex car had stopped just outside the city line on Albany avenue and that the license plates from the Ford had been removed and placed on the Essex car. The Ford car had been abandoned and the men in it had driven away in the Essex car. A little later Mr. Branneiser notified the local police that his Essex car that had been parked in the driveway of his brother's home at 455 Albany avenue had been stolen, and a general alarm was sent out.

According to the Ogdensburg police the Essex car when recovered bore California license plates on it.

Lawatsch Guilty, Pays $100 Fine

Pleaded Guilty to Driving a Car While Intoxicated—Eloquent Plea For Clemency Made by His Attorney, J. Edward Conway.

Anthony Lawatsch of Summer street, arrested on a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated, entered a plea of guilty when arraigned before Judge A. H. Van Buren in police court today, and was fined $100 or sentenced to thirty days in jail, and his license to operate a car suspended for a period of sixty days. Mr. Lawatsch paid the fine, and was discharged.

He was represented in court by Attorney J. Edward Conway, who made an eloquent plea for clemency for Mr. Lawatsch. Mr. Conway said that Mr. Lawatsch was one of the substantial citizens of Kingston and it was furthered from his thoughts to violate any of the laws. He was a man who was known for his charity and his integrity, and he sincerely regretted that he had made this one misstep.

"Everyone thinks you are a good old fellow," remarked Judge Van Buren, turning to Lawatsch, "and you should let this be a lesson to you to watch your step in the future." The judge then imposed the sentence stated.

President May Go To Georgia Coast

Washington, Dec. 19 (AP)—President Coolidge has in mind a trip to Sapelo Island, off the Georgia coast. There are fish in the ocean around Sapelo and the President has dipped a worm or cast a fly only in fresh waters.

The fishing may not be a factor, but it is known that he is considering an invitation from Howard E. Coffin, head of an air transport company. If they go, the President and Mrs. Coolidge probably will leave Washington Christmas afternoon or night.

They may stay several days. The President is not certain that he will return to Washington in time for the New Year's reception at the White House. This has been a feature of the capital's holiday program for a number of years, although abandoned during the Wilson administration because of the war.

The condition of Mrs. Lemira Goodhue, Mrs. Coolidge's mother, who is ill at Northampton, Massachusetts, may determine whether the trip is to be taken.

Sapelo Island, only a short distance from Brunswick, is one of a group of historic islands. French noblemen found refuge there in the days when the Huguenots were fleeing their native country. Indians and pirates have swept down upon the inhabitants of Sapelo Island. In the days before the Civil War it was famous because of its fertile soil and its long staple sea island cotton.

However indefinite his plans for the Georgia visit may be the President has his Christmas program partly mapped out. He will turn on the lights for a big Christmas tree in the parkway back of the Executive Mansion. Mrs. Coolidge plans to assist the Salvation Army in the distribution of baskets to the poor.

Kellogg Treaty Goes to Senate

Moses Resolution Reported From the Committee Without Recommendation—Unlikely to Come Up For Discussion Before Christmas recess.

Washington, Dec. 19 (AP)—The Kellogg anti-war treaty was presented formally to the Senate today by Chairman Borah of the foreign relations committee, which overwhelmingly approved it yesterday. At the same time the "interpretative resolution" of Senator Moses, Republican of New Hampshire, was reported from the committee "without recommendation."

Taking its place alongside the naval construction bill before the Senate, the treaty to renounce war as an instrument of national policy appeared to have little opportunity of getting up for discussion ahead of the cruiser measure before the Christmas recess.

The resolution of Senator Moses, which he would have accompanied the ratification of the treaty as a "clarifying" statement of America's position, was modified today by its sponsors and the direct reference to the American Monroe Doctrine was eliminated.

In its final form the Moses resolution read: "Resolved that the Senate of the United States declares that in advising and consenting to the multilateral treaty it does so with the understanding:—

"1.—That the treaty does not impair or abridge the right of the United States to defend its territory or other vital interests in accordance with the traditional American policies.

"2.—That the treaty imposes no obligation on the United States to resort to coercive or punitive measures against any offending nation.

"3.—That the treaty does not obligate the United States to the conditions of any treaty to which the United States is not a party.

"4.—That the secretary of state is requested to forward a copy of this resolution to the representatives of the other powers."

Senator Borah presented the treaty and the resolution separately, first placing the matter before the Senate. Both propositions were put on the executive calendar. When they will be taken up is undecided.

Defer Consideration. Washington, Dec. 19 (AP)—Postponement of consideration of the Kellogg anti-war treaty, reported today to the senate, until after the Christmas recess has been decided upon by Senator Borah. In charge of the treaty fight, after consultation with leaders.

Judges Named for Lighting Contest

Mayor Dempsey, Pastor Brandorff and M. M. Peck Appointed Judges in The Outdoor Christmas Lighting Contest.

Mayor Edgar J. Dempsey, Pastor O. E. Brandorff of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer and M. M. Peck, electrical inspector of the Underwriters' Association, have accepted appointments as judges in the Outdoor Christmas Lighting Contest sponsored by The Electric Service League of Kingston. They are all keenly interested in the contest, and when notified of their appointment expressed great satisfaction that this delightful custom of outdoor Christmas lighting has sprung into such popularity in Kingston.

During the period of the contest, that is, from Christmas Eve to New Year's Eve, the judges will ride through the city viewing the displays. They will base their judgments on beauty, simplicity and effectiveness. It is therefore not necessary, nor even desirable, that the displays be lavish or spectacular. In order that the judges may not miss your display, be sure to keep the lights on every night until at least eleven o'clock.

This statement is not made to discourage anyone from designing a display that is unique or out of the ordinary, but the experience of last year would indicate that good taste in displays, particularly in relation to surroundings, is an important point to be considered. Last year's judges, W. C. Kingman, manager of the Canfield Supply Company, the Rev. J. Wilbur Tetley, pastor of St. James Methodist Church, and Judge Augustus Shufeldt, city judge of Kingston, awarded the prizes on the special merits of each decoration, taking into consideration the originality of the design, the appropriateness to the season, the color scheme, color harmony, and the effectiveness of the whole in relation to the architecture of the house and its surroundings.

Mrs. Smith Badly Burned

Clothing Caught Fire While Removing Ashes From Stove—Neighbor Hear Her Cries for Help and Extinguished Flames.

Mrs. William Smith was badly burned about the upper part of her body about 5:30 o'clock this morning when her clothing caught fire while she was removing a pan of hot ashes from the kitchen stove in her home at 628 Broadway. Her cries for help were heard by Louis Minkler, who resided on the floor above and who extinguished the flames with a pail of water. Her cries for aid had not been heard it is probable that her burns would have proven fatal.

She had arisen this morning as usual and after shaking down the fire in the kitchen stove she started to remove the pan of hot ashes. In leaning over and in a second the upper part of her clothing was ablaze. Using her left hand and arm she endeavored to extinguish the flames as she ran into the hall calling for help.

On the floor above reside the Minkler family and Mr. Minkler, hearing her cries, rushed down the stairs and found her clothing in flames. Glancing hastily around he saw a hall filled with water standing in the hall and picking up the pail he poured the contents over her. The water extinguished the flames. A physician was called immediately and attended the injured woman.

Seize 2 Stills In Red Hook

Federal Agents From Kingston Office Cooperating With State Police Also Make Two Transportation Seizures.

Several cups that cheer will be empty on Christmas as a result of a raid made by federal agents from the Kingston enforcement office Tuesday afternoon at Red Hook, Dutchess county, where two stills were located and demolished. On the Henry V. Shaw farm in Rockwell Lane at Red Hook the agents located a 500 gallon still and a 250 gallon copper still in full operation turning out apple jack. The plant was equipped with a 60 horse power steam boiler for operating the stills, a considerable quantity of finished product and a quantity of partially completed product was seized. After taking samples the stills were completely demolished by the agents.

Henry V. Shaw was arrested as the owner and operator of the still and was held in $1,500 bail before a Poughkeepsie magistrate for appearance before U. S. Commissioner A. C. Connelly in this city.

The agents from the local office cooperating with the State Troopers from "C" Troop at Sidney also made two transportation seizures in which a quantity of alleged liquor and ale was seized.

Cooperating with the Troopers the agents seized a Cadillac sedan containing 150 gallons of alcohol and arrested Sam Genco, who is believed to come from Elmira. The car bore license plates issued at Binghamton. This seizure was made near Liberty and Genco was held by a Liberty judge for appearance in New York city later.

The Kingston agents cooperating with the same Troopers also seized a Reo 1 1/2 ton truck loaded with Canadian ale and alleged rye whiskey and placed under arrest Walter Smith, who gave his address as 255 East Tremont avenue, New York city. This seizure was made near Forestburgh, Sullivan county. Smith was held in $500 bail for appearance in New York city by U. S. Commissioner Crist at Middletown. The contraband goods were brought to Kingston and stored in the government warehouse pending transfer to the army base at Brooklyn.

PHILOSOPHER SENDS GREETINGS, THEN KILLS SELF

New York, Dec. 19 (AP)—Obituary editors on New York newspapers, going through their daily grist of mail, found the following notice:

"To my friends in New York, Chicago and elsewhere, greetings and the glad tidings that I kicked the bucket Dec. 17, 1928.

"Cause: Tedium vitae, I got tired of life.

"My voluntary passing is in keeping with my philosophy and was planned long ago.

"Free was my life and free be my death.

"Pity me not; I have had my dream.

"I am at peace with God, the world and myself—Goodbye."

"GEORGE PANEBAKER."

Investigation by reporters at the East 121st street rooming house which Panebaker gave as his address revealed his body hanging from a steam pipe in a shabbily furnished room filled with books in German, French, Italian and English. Neighbors said he was the son of a German burgomaster, a world traveler and a translator of medical and philosophical writings. He was 65 years old.

THREE PERSONS LOSE THEIR LIVES IN FIRES

New York, Dec. 19 (AP)—Three persons lost their lives in fires in different sections of the city early today. James Towne and his wife, Margaret, negroes, were burned to death when a fire swept through a five-story tenement in Harlem. Theresa Shapiro, 13, was killed in a fire in an East Houston street tenement.

In each fire, hundreds of tenants were driven into the streets in their night clothes. Firemen carried scores of persons to safety.

Noted Composer Dead

Sarazac Lake, N. Y., Dec. 19 (AP)—Sylvio Hein, 49, noted composer, died of tuberculosis at his home here today. He is survived by his widow, his mother, Mrs. Irene Hein, and a brother, Lionel Hein, of New York city. Hein was the first secretary of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers.

Tuesday afternoon Judge Pierce R. Russell, presiding at the December term of the superior court sentenced five defendants who have previously entered pleas of guilty to charges named in indictments handed up by the grand jury which reported last week. In each of the cases Judge Russell made extensive investigations before sentencing the defendants and in each case the nature of the crime as well as the past record of the defendant and the facts surrounding the crime were given consideration in imposing sentence. With sentences such as were handed out by the court Tuesday being imposed it is likely that criminally inclined residents of the county would think twice before committing a crime.

Judge Russell showed leniency to two of the defendants when he learned the circumstances and permitted them to change their pleas to guilty to a lesser charge in order that jail sentences might be imposed. There were no suspensions of the jail sentences however and all of the defendants will have ample opportunity to think over their crimes.

Oliver York, who apparently was the master mind in a wholesale chicken stealing operation which was being conducted from the York home at Plutarch, was sentenced under one of six indictments. York in company with Warren B. Robinson and another man scoured the county about New Paltz, Gardiner, Exopus and Marlborough, entering chicken coops and stealing choice birds, which were sold. Their operations were cut short by Sergeant Lockhart of the State Troopers, who is familiar with the chicken thieving operations of numerous families in his territory and who picked up York and Robinson as well as two of their companions who were later discharged when it became apparent that their part in the operations were of a minor nature.

York apparently was the chief of the crew and in court admitted that he had stolen the chickens and sold them. Robinson according to his statement received but a very small sum for his part in the operations. Indictments for six jobs were returned by the last grand jury and York was sentenced under but one of the indictments. When arraigned last week York pleaded not guilty to three of the indictments. Tuesday afternoon he decided to change his pleas to guilty in all six of the cases and since this corresponded with Robinson's plea they both appeared in court guilty of the same crimes.

York Sentenced to Dannemora. York said he was married when questioned under the indictment No. 1619 to which he pleaded guilty, he gave his age as 35 and said he had once been convicted of stealing a bicycle. He was born in Sullivan county and now resides at Plutarch having moved there from Marlborough some time ago.

Judge Russell questioned the defendant in regard to the crime charged and then sentenced York to hard labor at Dannemora for an indeterminate term the minimum of which shall be 3 years and the maximum 8 years.

Robinson was not sentenced by the court. He will come before the court today Robinson, who is 58 years old, apparently is ill and seems to be suffering from tuberculosis. He has a prison record.

Carrington Also Goes to Dannemora. Jesse Carrington, colored, charged with burglary, third degree alleged to have taken place in Kingston, said he was 25 and had been born in Virginia. He said he was married but did not live with his wife but resided in Kingston with a lady named Taylor. He had no previous convictions and the court sentenced him to Clinton State prison at Dannemora at hard labor for a term of from one year six months to five years.

Gets Six Months in County Jail. Agie Cloyd, known as Henry Ford, colored, charged with assault, second degree, was permitted to plead guilty to assault, third degree, when the circumstances of the crime were explained by Chris J. Flanagan, who appeared for Cloyd. Cloyd is employed on the Schultz yard at East Kingston and Mr. Flanagan stated that he had been requested by Cloyd's employer to appear for him. He had been notified that the man named was Cloyd and when the man was arraigned under an indictment naming Henry Ford he had permitted Cloyd's client and had permitted Cloyd to answer to the charge and plead guilty. He stated that the assault had been over 6 feet in height, man who stands over 300 pounds. This man when drunk was the terror of the yard. On the day of the assault this man had gone out with the in-

SEWER THROUGH FOSSIL PUZZLES ILLINOIS TOWN.

Moline, Ill. (AP).—Prophetstown, near here, is perplexed with a city construction problem. A sewer pipe has been run through the eye of a pre-historic monster, and the builders will not permit its removal for fear the action might nullify the contract. After the job is turned over to the city the council will have the knot to untangle.

Prof. F. M. Fryxell of Augustana College here, established the identity of the mammal through bone fragments, chipped off by the sewer layers.

George Brdla, mayor, has given permission for removal of the mammal bones but declines to assume liability for damage to the pipe.

COW'S TASTE RIVALS GOAT AND OSTRICH

East Lansing, Mich. (AP).—The goat and the ostrich, famed for their gastronomical idiosyncrasies, have a rival in the placid bovine which, in the wildest flight of imagination, never has been suspected of eating rocks and barbed wire.

When experimental cow No. 240, a five-year-old Holstein that had raised twin calves, was slaughtered at Michigan State College, her reticulum or "second stomach" was found to contain nails, rocks, three kinds of screws, barbed wire, balling wire, two washers, a ball bearing, a BB shot, and various other metals.

Dr. C. F. Huffman, of the dairy department, said the assimilation of foreign substance apparently had done no harm to the animal's physical condition, although he believes this lack of discrimination on the part of cattle may be responsible for many deaths annually.

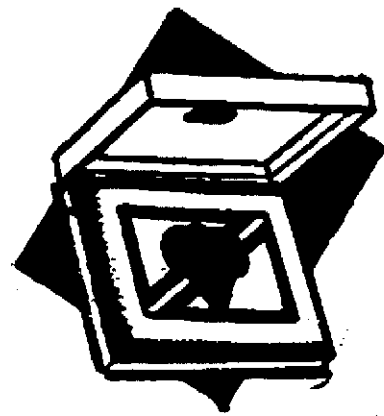

The discovery does not indicate a depraved appetite, Dr. Huffman says, but is a warning to farmers to keep the cow's feed free of metallic substances.

New Problems in Raising of S-4

Aboard U. S. S. Falcon of Black Island, R. I., via Black Island Radio Station, Dec. 19 (AP)—Down by the stern in 55 feet of water the empty hull of submarine S-4, a year ago the tomb of 49 men, again today was a problem for the navy's salvagers.

The how of the submarine was high and dry out of the water of Great Salt Pond, but its stern was resting in mud from where it had to be removed before a test of new lifting hooks for submarines is completed.

The vessel was deliberately sunk Monday morning and after two days of efforts by divers the order to blow empty two huge pontoons, the engine room and the ballast tanks was given at 7:45 o'clock last night. Thirty-five minutes later, after a series of turbulent eruptions of the water over the sunken craft, the pontoons and the great grey bow of the ship loomed into the brilliancy of flood lights on nearby navy ships and the experiment seemed over. But something had gone wrong and, despite efforts to drain every available floating chamber, the ship would not budge its stern from the bottom.

Navy salvage experts believe a great quantity of water eddied into a corner of the engine room compartment stern, which had been flooded by connections to the outside during the experimental sinking. They think it was beyond reach of a draining valve. In somewhat similar fashion one of three ballast tanks controlled by a manifold emptying valve was believed to have emptied first, leaving the other tanks full when a vent was created as the first tank was drained. Weight of the water remaining in the engine room and ballast tanks, the experts believed, kept the ship down.

The fight to bring the submarine, of a negative buoyancy of less than 100 tons, to the surface with the pontoons of combined lifting power of 160 tons took place while a wind of near-gale force lashed the water and falling temperature drove everyone free from salvage detail to shelter.

After about four hours vain effort Lieutenant Commander Palmer Dunbar ordered the submarine tender to come alongside and tie a line to the submarine to keep it from crashing against the Falcon during the night.

The bow of the submarine was carried against the Falcon by strong wind soon after the forward part of the vessel was raised but no damage resulted.

A third pontoon was ordered for service in the last part of the raising operation. This pontoon was ordered placed over the aft deck of the submarine and attached with a huge chain girdled about the hull.

The commander said the test of the lifting hooks was designed to determine their accessibility to divers, and the unexpected delay in the raising would point out new problems which would have to be solved before submarine rescue and salvaging methods were complete.

First American City to Have Town Clock

The first American town clock was set up in the steeple of a church in Guilford, Conn., something like two centuries ago. Made almost entirely of wood, it was built by a Yankee mechanical genius, Ebenezer Parmelee. This is the story of how it came about that Guilford was the first town in the United States to own a town clock.

The village was founded by Rev. Henry Whitfield in the autumn of 1630. He was a clergyman in the Church of England and came to this country for greater religious liberty. He had not been here long before the first church was founded.

The members of his flock met with him at his home, which is now the State Historical museum. In 1643 the first church building was erected, on Guilford green, and stood until early in 1700, when a new edifice was put up to replace the old building torn down.

Just as soon as the new church was finished members of the congregation began to make plans for a bell. The bell was secured, but then a steeple had to be built to put it in.

In 1708 the steeple was completed, but the church tower looked lonely to the townspeople without a clock. There was no such thing as a town clock in the colonies. Ebenezer Parmelee was the mechanical genius of Guilford and the church officer called upon him to see what he could do in the clock line.

After considerable experiment, Parmelee turned out the clock which has since borne his name and which made him famous in the colony. It is a big, cumbersome affair, made entirely of wood. It was wound by means of a large crank, which the sexton of the church had to operate every Monday morning. Dials were placed on four sides of the steeple.

Whenever the clock got out of order Parmelee was called upon by the church committee to repair it. After some years of labor of this kind, his services as clock tinker were rewarded by the citizens of Guilford, who voted, December 15, 1741, to free him from service in town offices so long as he continued to keep the clock ticking. The old clock did service until a new one replaced it in 1830.

And the cobwebs and the ovis it was left neglected and forgotten for years. Then some one asked what had become of the old timepiece, and searching parties found it, covered with the dust of a century, in the church tower. With it were the weights, composed of barrels of stone, that had been used for years to run it.

Not so many years ago it was voted at a church meeting to lend the clock to the local historical society, and it took its final journey to the Whitfield house, now a museum.—Washington Star.

Cord Tire Manufacture
The Rubber Association of America says that a loom is used in the process of making cord tire. It is the last operation through which tire cord in put and, of course, it is to the cords together by means of filling threads in the form of a fabric so that the material can be handled in the colanders. Usually the filling threads are very light in construction in comparison with the warp cords and are spaced from 2 1/2 to 6 to the inch.

Counterfeiter in Hudson.
A counterfeit was working in the vicinity of Hudson it was learned Monday when a woman offered a bogus $19 in payment of automobile license fees at the county clerk's office. The woman, an innocent victim of the bad money maker, said a stranger gave her the bill in payment for a 50-cent basket of apples and she gave him $3.50 change. The case was the second halting of bad bills at the county clerk's office. It is said the counterfeit money is printed on stiffer paper than the genuine and is of a grayish appearance.

A "TRAGIC JOKE."

One of the party of fourteen English editors who recently toured this country for two months, Ralph D. Blumfield, editor of the London Daily Express, has published an article on the working of the Volstead act which is interesting and worthy of being widely reprinted for "what it may be worth." might be added in deference to those who shut their eyes to the known conditions and content themselves with an indifferent if not callous skepticism. According to the cable dispatches, Editor Blumfield in part wrote:

I regret sincerely to have to say that I (American prohibition) is perhaps the most tragic joke that any nation ever played upon itself in the history of civilization. I went to many private dinners in all parts of the country, and with one exception—in Chicago—I never saw a prohibition table. I went to cocktail parties attended by state officials, United States legislators, judges and college presidents, and, with the fewest possible exceptions, they all drank as much or more than they did before prohibition. All of them said that prohibition is a sad and a degrading farce. Many said that before the law was passed they never touched liquor.

In one town we visited there was a great football match. In the evening at a dance at the hotel where we stayed the place was crowded by 11 o'clock with young couples in evening dress, shouting, roaring, riotous. By midnight the place was a bedlam. From every window shouting across the hotel wings, leaped young men and women, singing, hooting, catcalling and worse. Then they began throwing things—bedroom furniture, bottles, glasses, trays, pillows, chairs, anything movable. The fury was maintained through a sleepless night. I asked a doctor, who was busy there the next morning, how it happened. "It's gin," he said, "synthetic gin. It drives them temporarily mad. The most pathetic thing is that so many young girls have begun to think that it is the right thing to do." This deadly gin has ruined more homes, wrecked more young lives, showered more misery than all the years of straightforward drunkenness on pure spirits ever witnessed during the generations before prohibition bit itself into the vitals of the nation.

CLOTHES AND TUBERCULOSIS.

Formerly there was much more tuberculosis among young men than among young women, but now, according to the medical authority writing in the New York Times, "the mortality rate in some instances is twice as high among young girls as among boys and young men." The reasons given for the marked change are the following: "The insane desire to obtain a boyish appearance by intentional undernourishment; insufficient protection of the body, particularly in cold weather; the flimsy dress, sleeveless and low cut in front or back, with next to no underwear, low shoes; compression of the breast by tight brassieres, hindering deep respiration; too much night life; too much cigarette smoking; and in many cases unsanitary sleeping and living quarters; overheated and badly ventilated workrooms, offices, factories and stores."

And yet no few observers, including physicians, have claimed that the light clothing of women is beneficial and that American women of today are in better physical condition than the men. The student of tuberculosis quoted above admits that this may be true of the women of the leisure class who are devoted to outdoor sports and can sleep as long as they like after late hours, but he insists that it is not true of the handicapped young women of the working classes. In any case it is likely that warnings will be of little avail. There is just one master before whom practically all women meekly bow—Fashion—and working girls will continue to insist on dressing as far as possible, precisely as do the women of the more prosperous classes.

It will hardly become a popular pastime to fly as high as a War Department aviator saw on October 11, when they were testing cameras in winter-cold. Within a period of 30 minutes these two flyers passed from a temperature of 71 above zero on the ground to 76 below zero at an altitude of 27,354 feet. The costumes they had to wear for this flight consisted of a layer of grease on their bodies, then wool bathing suits, three coats of woolen underwear, woolen uniforms and finally leather flying suits with fur collars. Each man wore three pairs of wool socks, wool lined gloves equipped with electric heating coils, a wool lined leather helmet covering the entire head, and electrically heated goggles. Getting into and out of such outfits seems a slightly appalling task. Driving the plane and taking the photographs—the first ever taken from such a height—were no doubt simple tasks to the heroes so attired.

There is much interest and some excitement about the case of a Michigan mother of 19 children sent to prison for life as a habitual criminal, on her fourth conviction for bootlegging. The penalty does look extreme when you consider how many big bootleggers, high-jackers and gunmen go free, not to mention men who steal millions of public money and women who shoot their husbands. The Michigan authorities hold that laws must be enforced and offenders must be taught a lesson. There would be more indignation about it if there were any general belief that a "life sentence" means what it says. Considering the way murderers are usually released by parole boards after serving a few years, people naturally expect similar clemency for the maternal bootlegger.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

BY
 James W. Barton, M.D.

BRANCHES OF HEALING.

Some of our humorists like to get something on the specialist in medicine and surgery and will tell the story of the man who swallowed a collar button and wished to have it removed from his stomach. On consulting the specialist and telling him that it was a front collar button, he was politely told that this particular specialist operated for the back collar button only.

Now while this gives rise to a smile, there are folks who think that only one system of medicine or treatment is correct, and anything done by any other system or method must be wrong.

Thus we have health systems, food systems, the system of using enemas and high irrigation of the intestine, physical training systems, massage, chiropractic, and osteopathic systems, mind cures and various other systems, besides the regular system of medicine and surgery. Now what about this?

If you think for a moment, I believe you'll agree that every method and every system has its place, and your common sense will just about direct you properly.

The cause of cancer is unknown, but if cancer be treated early with radium or X-ray, a certain percentage can be cured. Surgery is the only other method of getting rid of cancer, and this too only in the early stages.

Another condition that causes more illness and deaths than anything else in heart disease. There is only one treatment here and that is rest together with the use of digitals, under the careful supervision of the physician.

Then there are the great number of cases of indigestion even including ulcer of the stomach. The treatment here while medical to some extent, can be handled by proper diet, proper periods of rest, proper periods between meals and so forth. Accompanying this is constipation and here the proper foods, aided by exercise are indicated.

Then there are conditions where the patient is unable or unwilling to exercise and where his whole system including heart needs stimulation. Neither medicine or surgery is indicated here, but heat, massage, osteopathy, or other mechanical treatment to stimulate the cells of the body to action.

And when the trouble is of the mind or of a mental nature, ministers, priests, the nerve specialist, the psychologist, the mental and spiritual healer, can be of help.

"Powwow" Not Uncommon In Pennsylvania

Harriestown, Pa. (AP)—The mysterious influence which sent King Saul to consult the witch woman of Endor still sways the minds of many men and women in Pennsylvania.

The killing of Nelson D. Rockefeller in York county by a "powwow" doctor and two youths; efforts to connect the unsolved murder of a girl with witchcraft and investigation of the deaths of infants who received powwow instead of medical treatment, all have served to focus attention on the survival of ancient superstitions.

The word "powwow" was adopted by the early settlers from the North American Indian, in which language it means "conference." Immigrants brought with them their beliefs in incantations and conjuring formulas in the curing of minor ailments and averting of misfortunes.

This wealth of superstition entered into many domestic actions and the duties of every-day life. The superstition of early German settlers, much of which now appears to have been handed down through the generations, was divided into a hundred forms, from a simple belief in the efficacy of Bible verses, promiscuously selected, to demonology.

Dr. Julius F. Sachse once related to the Lancaster historical society a personal experience as a boy with "powwowing" a burn. He had picked up a hot piece of iron, and as so remedies were at hand it was suggested that he be taken to an old woman in the neighborhood who for a penny or so would "bespreech the burn."

"The old woman was spare and thin, with long bony hands," said Dr. Sachse. "A pair of brass spectacles perched on her nose, and red tapes formed a garland for her drooping eyelids."

"Laying the burner hand on the table, she immediately commenced making signs and crosses over the hurt with her long index finger. While she murmured her incantations—actions which, from the unconscious feeling excited in the lad, temporarily took away all thoughts of injury."

"Her howl stopped. This was taken as a sign that the charm was successful."

But the pain soon returned, and the boy broke into laughter at "the ridiculous sight." In anger the old crone wrote German characters on a piece of paper and put it into the boy's pocket.

At his home the missive was examined. It advised "an immediate and thorough dusting of the lad's jacket with a pliable hazel or birch switch, well laid on, so as to teach him in future to respect old age and venerate a gray head," said Dr. Sachse.

ELEANOR GUNN ON FASHIONS

A NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTION IT WILL BE A PLEASURE TO KEEP

New York—One of the several New Year's resolutions that should not only be made but kept is to take advantage of the white goods sales which always are ushered in once the holiday rush is disposed of.

White sales are white in name only, but they nevertheless are tremendously important in replenishing one's linens and lingerie. Whether one's urge is for athletic or for ultra feminine types is relatively unimportant since shops are well stocked to meet either or both demands and a score of less extreme.

If fashionables consider it important enough to match their motor coats to their cars, it stands to reason that they will be quite as insistent in matching their night dresses to their sheets, colored sheets having replaced white ones in many modern households. If not match, at least harmonize, for the current acceptance of the term ensemble has little to do with carefully matched units, but is concerned with harmonies. In a sense highly colored interiors, bath-rooms, being the last to succumb to color, complicates one's scheme of dressing for obviously one must consider one's background in getting the best costume effects.

Silk underthings continue to be desired above even the sheerest handkerchief linens or the finest batiste. Laces, again in high repute, curiously enough are inclined to coarser meshes and to deeper tones, with of course interesting exceptions. Valenciennes, at one time the lace of laces for lingerie has been forgotten in the web of alencones, binches, imitation point Venice and so on which have become the last word in lingerie elegance. While blue, one of the newer colors, maize and a score of other dainty shades are being asked for, the majority remain loyal to flesh, although there is something of a variance of opinion as to what this term implies. At the moment flesh, to be fashionable, must be slightly tanned. With the southern season upon us one sees no possibility of the beige pinks and the yellowish ones losing their hold.

Naturally one must get back into petticoats again if skirts are to gather fullness with each new season. Quite naturally these petticoats are lovely enough to justify their reappearance. Of course their hems conform to the accepted creed and are irregular being beautified by scallops or wide inserts of lace, sometimes in circular design, too much to refrain from a rather lavish use of ribbon, usually in the form of a soft, crushable bow, added for no mere utilitarian purpose but to create an atmosphere of charm and frivolity. From the crown of her head to the brilliant heels of her shoes, underneath as well as on the outside, the fashionable woman has thrown economy to the winds, and has buried herself in layers of loveliness, seemingly unmindful of the cost. Even her stockings refuse to remain plain, or to be uniform in color. For evening there are lovely mesh silks, for sports stunning novelty silk and wool or lisle stockings, while for day wear there are clocks and novelty heels to no end.

Traffic cop gets summons

Even he can't get away with it

"DON'T try to put anything over on Nature," is the way a cop would express it. "Sooner or later she'll get you. Give you a ticket and lay you up in a place where you'd rather not be. Even cops can't get away with it. Like everyone else, if they don't pay attention to the warnings they get a summons that lands them in the doctor's office."

"What the doctor advises is Nujol. Says Nujol will regulate you just like you regulate traffic. Keep things from getting in a jam. And the doctor is right. Just ask the healthiest men on the Force. If they need Nujol—with all the exercise they get—what about the fellows that roll by in their cars?"

"Just take a tip from me. You may have the best intentions in the world. But everybody gets tied up at times. Nature can't always take care of things without help."

"Our Medical Chief tells me that Nujol isn't a medicine. It contains absolutely nothing in the way of medicine or drugs. It's simply a pure natural substance (perfected by the Nujol Laboratories, 26 Broadway, New York), that keeps things functioning at all times as Nature intends them to. Normally, Regularly. It not only keeps an excess of body poisons from forming (we all have them), but aids in their removal."

Nature's law O. K.

Start Nujol today. It won't cost you much—not more than the price of some smokes. Worth a try, isn't it?

You'll find Nujol at all drugstores. Sold only in sealed packages. Get some on your way home today.

Eleanor Gunn Says

At the smartest wedding of the year the guests chose velvet in black and sapphire blue in an overwhelming majority, while the bride elected to wear white velvet.

Every dinner dress worthy of the name has a jacket which may be added or subtracted at will.

Tricot turbans made on the head after the manner of Paris have taken like wildfire in this country.

Metallic tricot turbans for evening have also developed into an important social factor.

Pique, both plain and printed, is much used in collections in preparation for southern wear.

White, turquoise, geranium and coral seem to be the most popular colors at fraternity dances.

The taffeta shoulder bow and the soft satin bow tie are interesting accessory details.

Embroidery is reappearing, and in some of the more exclusive establishments is replacing printed taffetas and other silks.

Many fur yoke collars are being worn and cavalier and butcher's cuffs are effective ways of introducing fur at the wrist in such a manner as not to prevent one's carrying a muff.

Gray furs are sponsored by smart shops and by smart women.

The white crinoline jacket promises to be a fashionable southern resort wrap.

Etamine and loosely woven wools generally promise well for spring.

Bertha Goes to the Dance

By JOHN GRAY

IT WAS the day before the attainment of a major goal at Tilton college. On the "house room" bed in the Denby farmhouse lay the girl who had been the subject of the great event. Silver slippers and stockings lay beside it.

The whole house was in an air of expectancy and even the cows and chickens in the barnyard and pasture must have suspected that something was in the air from the happy, preoccupied air of Bill Denby, gruff and usually indifferent, as he went about his daily chores. Bill Denby was Bertha's brother, her elder by ten years, who, though he avoided society himself, never seemed more content than when his pretty sister was included in the festivities at nearby Tilton college.

Then George Fulton came with the news that changed all this air of pleasurable expectation to one of gloom and dejection.

"I've done the thing that seems most honorable," he announced. "It means that I can't take you to the ball." And with much faltering and many hesitations he proceeded.

"Last summer I met a girl who lives out in Wyoming. We played tennis together and went swimming and sailing and—well, before we parted I asked her to go to my junior ball with me. That was before I had met you. Well, we wrote once or twice and nothing more was said about the ball, and then we didn't write any more. I had met you and she didn't seem to care whether I wrote or not. This morning I had a letter from her. It just says: 'I'm coming for the ball. Will arrive at five Friday. I know you haven't forgotten your invitation.'"

"It's too late to prevent her coming—she is almost here. I didn't know what to do. Of course, I want to take you more than anything else. But I made up my mind that the right thing for a fellow to do in the circumstances was to go to the girl he really cared for and tell her."

It was not till George had gone and Bertha had gone to nurse her grief in sight of the pink frock laid out so neatly that she permitted tears to flow. Bill Denby, who had looked in vain for his sister downstairs, found her there in the spare room. Bertha explained.

"I don't care so much about going with him," she fibbed, "but I wanted to wear the dress. I never had such a pretty dress before."

"I'll take you," Bill said firmly.

"But they won't let you in—you're an outsider."

"See here," said Bill, shaking a defiant finger in her face, "you said this George is the boss of the dance. I'll show him I'm no outsider this time. I'm going."

In the thirty hours that were to elapse before the dance Bill found only a few for sleep. There was a hasty trip by motor to Tilton in quest of evening clothes.

He came back with numerous bundles. "Here's everything from soap to nuts," he announced; "dancing pumps, silk socks and everything. Now start in and show me the steps."

The next evening at half-past eight, when Bertha, dressed in her pink chiffon, started off with her brother to Tilton college, she was inclined to think that this smooth-shaven, well-dressed young man must be some one else than her brother.

It was an uncomfortable moment for Bertha at the door when the student whose duty it was to receive tickets, barred the way and looked skeptical when Bill said he would see the chairman of the committee, who would fix things up for him. George came forward, sensed the situation in a flash, and escorted the Denbys past the dismayed door committee.

What followed made Bertha feel as if she had suddenly been swept off her feet. The girl, beautiful, stately and brunette, but certainly older than George, took both Bill's hands in hers. "What a wonderful surprise," she said. "I was going to send for you tomorrow, but I never knew you'd be at the dance." Then she and Bill gravitated to some chairs behind some palms, and when the music started for the first dance, and George was expected to be the first on the floor, he did not even try to find Bill and the mysterious girl from Wyoming, but stepped out on the smoothly waxed floor with Bertha.

They danced for a few minutes and then sought two chairs at the side of the floor. "That's Helen Dawson," George said. "She's the girl Bill was engaged to. One of the boys was out in Wyoming a few weeks ago and told her about Bill—how he'd never married and didn't like girls, so she decided to come and look him up. She found out when the dance came off, remembered to ask her, and took that as an excuse to come East. She didn't think how she might have spoiled things for us. But everything is going to turn out all right. I guess," added George, as he looked over in the palm-shaded corner of the room where Bill and Helen Dawson were still talking, oblivious of music, dancers and possible onlookers.

And that night when Helen and her new-found friend, Bertha Denby, whom she had seen once before as a little girl, and good night, Helen whispered to Bertha that she was engaged to Bill and Bertha announced in a lower whisper that she had just accepted George.

PLANT DOCTORS GATHER AT NEW YORK MEETING.
New York (P).—The plant doctors of the United States will be called into consultation here December 23-25 to consider the new diseases of plants and new methods of controlling old ones. Nearly 100 papers bearing on these problems which literally reach the roots of the nation's food supply will be read before the American Phytopathological Society during the annual meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Cereal, fruit and vegetable diseases will receive the greatest amount of attention. Consideration also will be given to the problem of plant quarantines, and the ailments of ornamental plants and tobacco, cotton, pineapple and other miscellaneous crops.

CLAIM NEW RECORD FOR IRISH POTATOES.
Jefferson, N. C. (P).—Colvard Brothers of Jefferson claim to have established a new record for Irish potato production in North Carolina when they harvested 541 bushels to the acre, bettering their former record by 100 bushels.

The planting was done in cooperation with E. C. Turner, county agricultural agent. They used 4,100 pounds of fertilizer and 35 bushels of seed. The cost of production, formerly 41 cents a bushel, was but 35 cents under intensive cultivation.

Next year Colvard Brothers hope to break the national non-irrigated record for potato production.

On next Sunday afternoon, December 23, at a five o'clock candle-light Vesper service at the Rondout Presbyterian Church, the beautiful Christmas cantata, "The Immortal Hour," by Adam Geibel will be given. Dunbar will be the solo soprano; Mrs. William Mills, solo contralto; Miss Hill, solo mezzo; solo contralto; Ralph Martin, solo tenor; Henry F. Dunbar, solo tenor; Frank Finley, solo baritone. The public is cordially invited to come and enjoy this Vesper hour of music.

SEEK MERCURY, WHISKY LOST IN RIVER IN 1861.

Missouri Valley, Iowa, Dec. 19.—White Key and mercury, valued at $150,000, which were swallowed up by the Missouri river six years ago, when a boat carrying them sank, will be sought by men at work on a new bridge across the river at this point. The liquor and mercury, in kegs and cartons, went down with the steamboat Bertrand which struck a snag and sank April 1, 1861. Several thousand gallons of whiskey and two tons of mercury were aboard. The mercury was destined for Montana for use in the handling of gold. Missouri Valley folk scoffed at the report the Bertrand was in trouble, believing it was an "April fool" joke. Farmers along the river rescued the boat and Charles Terwilliger. The public

Hoover Opposed To Intervention

Buenos Aires, Dec. 19 (AP)—La Epoca, a newspaper which is generally regarded as a spokesman for President Yrigoyen said today that Herbert Hoover is contending with the Argentine President told him that in the future the United States government would never interfere in the internal affairs of other countries, that it would respect their sovereignty and would recognize their rights to manage their own problems. President Yrigoyen was quoted as saying he believed Mr. Hoover was not in accord with the ideas of President Coolidge.

The newspaper said the subject of intervention by the United States in the affairs of other American nations was brought up by Senator Yrigoyen. Mr. Hoover explained that intervention by the United States had not been undertaken with the design of protecting American economic interests but was for safeguarding the lives of American citizens.

President Yrigoyen was understood then to have alluded to views of intervention expressed by President Coolidge in his speeches and Mr. Hoover was said to have replied that Mr. Coolidge had been obliged to proceed as he had done in view of the circumstances of the individual cases.

The paper said President Yrigoyen next declared that he believed Mr. Hoover was not in accord with the ideas of President Coolidge. Yrigoyen added that Mr. Hoover had answered that Mr. Coolidge had adopted his attitude solely on account of the circumstances involved. Mr. Hoover did not reply when President Yrigoyen expressed this belief.

The paper then quoted Mr. Hoover as saying the American people were opposed to the policy of intervention and that he was in a position to state emphatically that such a policy had ceased. He concluded by saying that in the future there would be no intervention by the United States government in the internal affairs of other countries, that their sovereignty would be respected and that their rights to manage their own problems would be recognized.

Special Concert
Meeting Thursday

The extension of enrollment period in the Community Concert Association through the present week for the benefit of New Paltz Normal and Kingston schools was welcomed by the enthusiastic workers in Kingston and surrounding towns.

Reports last Thursday showed how splendidly the contacts were being made. As far as possible personal invitations to join the association have been given preference. Honors for the largest number of members enrolled went to William Van Keuren last week. Of the ladies, Mrs. Lovatt, Mrs. Dunbar, and Mrs. Hanstein shared honors. A very good average was maintained by all workers.

This week's total should more than reach the minimum. The chairman, Clarence S. Rowland, has called a special meeting for Thursday, December 20, at 4 p. m. at the Y. M. C. A. A goodly number have promised to be present. This should be the last meeting necessary to be held by the council this year.

CHRISTMAS SERVICE OF
REDEEMER BIBLE SCHOOL

The Christmas service of the Bible School of Redeemer Lutheran Church will be held on Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Instead of the usual type of program consisting of recitations there will be a beautiful pageant by the scholars, entitled "The Story Ever New". The committee arranging the pageant consists of Rose Keener, chairman; Kathryn Rosa, Florence Herd, Elvira Herb and Pansy Kramling. Another innovation this year will be the White Gifts service when the children of the school will bring to the altar gifts of food for the needy as their gift to the Christ. The children in this way will learn that Christmas is a time when they not only receive but also give. The large part of the offering of the evening will be for the support of the Wartburg Orphan Home at Mt. Vernon, N. Y. At 6 a. m. on Christmas Day a service will be held at the church. There will be no other service during the day. The Senior Luther League will sing Christmas carols on Christmas Eve for the benefit of the shut-ins of the congregation and in the streets.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

THE SAILOR'S TROUSERS

IF YOURS is a curious mind you have no doubt been intrigued, as have many others, on observing a lad in sailor's uniform, by the unusual shape of his trouser legs which, as they near the bottom, grow gradually wider, taking somewhat the shape of a bell. Whether it is the blue serge of the sailor's winter uniform or the crisp white for summer seas the trousers are invariably cut after this peculiar pattern. It will be noticed, however, that the officers on board ship wear trousers that are straight cut and do not flare at the bottom. It is in this distinction that we have our story.

The strange shape of the allor-man's trousers had its origin, a fact that the common seaman is required among other things to scrub the decks. Ask any man to do work requiring similar bending and kneeling and he will don knickerbockers or his very oldest trousers. Sailors, too, found their freedom for the work handicapped and the casualties in trousers were not inconsequential. Hence the introduction of trousers which became wider at the bottom, so that when in the way they can be rolled above the knees, where they will remain without rolling down—something that the straight narrow trouser leg would never do.

FOR THE GOOSE
Formerly women used to have an idea in their heads that there was only one man in the world for them. But they ain't buildin' so many women with one man tops no more.

You can't make a beast of burden out of an ant or a blind enthusiast out of a mother-in-law.

Every practical woman has got a streak of poetry somewhere inside her. And every woman poet has got a practical streak.

FOR THE GANDER
One and one workin' together looks mighty like eleven.

A girl might feel respect for a man that refused a beggar; but not for one that refused and then started to alibi.

Just because you can't make a velvet purse out of a sow's ear is no reason why you should refuse to have anything to do with her.

CONTRIBUTORS TO RIFTON
METHODIST CHURCH

On December 2 the Methodists of Rifton held their annual Thanksgiving service, but when they came together at their church Sunday morning, December 16, they felt that they had two good reasons to hold another service of thanksgiving. First, that the good Lord had saved their church and sheds from destruction by fire when the large farm barn just across the road from the church burned to the ground Saturday morning. The very heavy frost that was on the ground and buildings is given credit for extinguishing the heavy burning cinders that fell on the ground and buildings before they could start another fire.

And their second reason for thanksgiving was the division of the large church auditorium, where their services have been held for the last 26 years, by a partition and rolling doors. The church has never been warm in cold weather but now it is as warm as the church of any other congregation.

The expense for the material for the partition and rolling doors was met by friends in Kingston. And the men who did the 17 days' work, without money or price, were S. L. Kerr of New Paltz, Wendell Fradenburgh of Rifton, and the Rev. Mr. Kerr, the pastor.

Those who contributed the money were as follows:

Katherine Boice, Myron S. Teller, Rose & Gorman, W. Norman Conner, A. D. Rose, Gifford brothers, L. S. Winne & Co., D. N. Mathews, Irving Rose, John Gregory, Mrs. Betts, Os-

Flu Follows Lines of Traffic

Washington, Dec. 19 (AP).—Influenza is believed to be continuing its spread eastward along lines of traffic. This announcement by the Public Health Service was accompanied by an estimate that there were at least 90,000 new cases during the past week. Along with this went an announcement from the Census Bureau that reports from 55 cities showed 73 deaths from the disease in the week ending December 15, as compared with 284 deaths in the same period the previous week. An increase in the country's death rate over that of last year also was shown. The figures for the week ending December 15 were 15.2 per 100,000 against 12.7 last year.

The estimate of 400,000 new cases was based on information from 20 states and New York city where 80,000 cases were actually reported. Of the 78 cities included in the Census Bureau's report, 23 had not been heard from.

There was nothing in the announcements yesterday to indicate that the disease, regarded as mild in form in comparison with other outbreaks, had changed in nature, though it was said another report on the situation was in preparation.

Dr. Earle G. Brown, secretary of the Kansas State Board of Health, said yesterday that 68,842 new cases of influenza were reported in Kansas last week and that 42 deaths were attributed to it.

In Illinois, Dr. Isaac D. Rawlings, director of the State Department of Public Health, announced that 2,196 cases had been reported in the last 19 days but that most of them were mild in character, with no indication of serious developments. He advised against closing schools, business houses and theatres, saying that there was no reason for public alarm.

We hear that all one girl wants for Christmas can be held in a man's shoes.

A profit is not without honor in the business world.

Helpful hands
And willing feet,
Makes life's pathway
Mighty sweet.

I know a Kingston man so dumb that he went to the office of the newly organized Christmas Good Cheer Club yesterday and told the men in charge to put him down for a quart.

It was a Kingston little girl who returned home with her nickel she was supposed to have put in the collection, explaining that the minister met her at the door and passed her in free.

Glady: "It's easy to tell whether a man is married or not."
Carl: "Not always—what if you met a bachelor with a terrible grouch on?"

The child who has not seen Santa Claus this Christmas season is badly chaperoned.

Before Christmas shoppers can make up their lists, they must make up their minds. Let your advertising help.

He: "Darling you are everything to me."
She: "Ummm... Hold everything."

It is what we do now that counts.

Was He Looking for Santa?
"And how did you get those black eyes?"
"I got socks for Christmas."

Someone has asked us if there is a Mrs. Santa Claus and what her name might be. We do not know unless it is Mary Christmas.

A Kingston girl said she did not hang up her stockings Christmas eve. She said a pair of socks would hold all she desired.

They only had one penny between them, so they let both go on the scale at once, divided the total weight by two, and both went away happy.

Christmas Sayings.
"Sure, that's good enough for her."
"What did they ever send us?"
"Well, if he don't like it he can exchange it."

"Yes, I'm sure this is the brand your husband smokes? ? ?"
"I want to get some ladies' ladies'—er, ah-h— that is—"
"Yes, sir, the lingerie department is down the next aisle."

"Yes, you can wait on me. I want something, but I don't know what it is."

"Oh, well, I guess we better send him sex."

"Do you think these will fit?"

Yes, sir! It's genuine—pre-war stuff.

"No matter what I get, she won't appreciate it."

"Yes, my dear, this is what THEY are wearing this season."

"Are you SURE you mailed my letter to Santa Claus, Daddy?"

ST. REMY.

St. Remy, Dec. 19.—The Christmas entertainment will take place at the St. Remy Church on Friday evening, December 21, at 7:30 o'clock. Every one is invited. The S. S. will serve refreshments after the entertainment.

The funeral of Mrs. Bessie Eckert took place from the St. Remy Church Monday at 2 p. m. The services were in charge of the Rev. J. B. Steketee of Kingston. Mrs. Harry Ellsworth and Mrs. Kathryn Sutton sang "Abide With Me" and "Nearer My Home." The floral tributes were many and beautiful. The family have the sympathy of the people in their sorrow and loss.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rose and friends of Pocantico Hills were Sunday guests of the Ellsworth family. A large maple tree in front of the church blew down on Monday night.

Don't Let That Cold Turn Into "Flu"

That cold may turn into "Flu." Cough or even worse, Pneumonia, unless you take care of it at once.

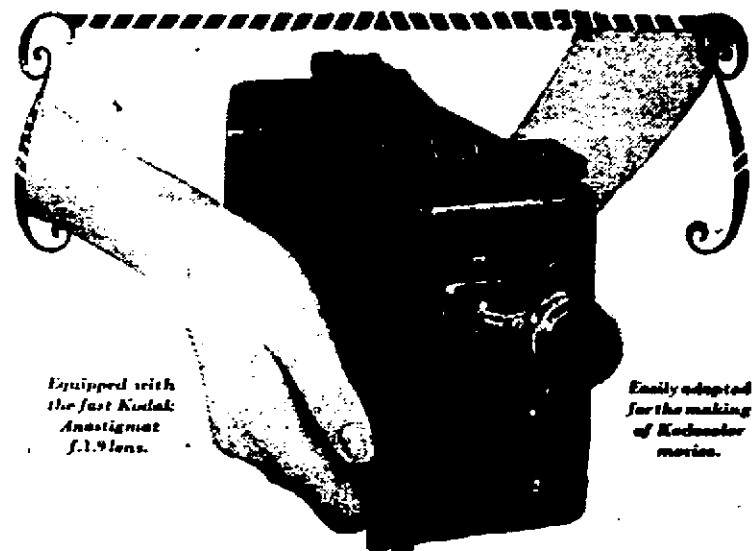

Rush Musterole on the congested parts and see how quickly it brings relief as effectively as the money old mustard plaster.

Musterole, made from pure oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other simple ingredients, is a counter-irritant which stimulates circulation and helps break up the cold.

You will feel a warm tingle as it enters the pores, then a cooling sensation that brings welcome relief.

Ton of Narcotics Seized by Agents

New York, Dec. 19 (AP).—One ton of narcotics, valued at $5,000,000, was in the hands of special Treasury department agents today as the largest and latest prize along the trail of illicit drug trade picked up among the papers of the late Arnold Rothstein, slain gambler.

The seizure was made last night at the pier of the French liner Rochambeau when the agents intercepted five packing cases consigned to Philadelphia.

Connection between the consignment, which is regarded as the largest seizure ever made, and the Rothstein case, was made through the link of Joseph Unger, who is under a smuggling charge growing out of developments in the Rothstein case.

Charles H. Tuttle, United States attorney, said agents working on the case here and in Philadelphia had learned that the five packing cases were intended for ultimate delivery to a man named Klein, which is one of the aliases used by Unger. At the time Unger was arrested in Buffalo while enroute to Chicago two trunks containing narcotics valued at $2,000,000 were seized in New York.

"This seizure and the one made the other day shows the existence of a big international drug ring with headquarters in France or Switzerland," the Federal attorney said.

"We will endeavor, through the grand jury to establish the identity of the persons who manufacture and attempt to smuggle the drugs into the country, indict them and endeavor to secure their extradition and bring them to justice in this country or, if that is not possible, endeavor to bring them to justice abroad under the provisions of our treaty."

Four of the cases were opened by Federal agents and found to be filled with opium, cocaine and morphine.

Added Improvements.
Morris Kaplan, who during the past three years has expended considerable money for improvements to the interior and exterior of his residence property at 112 Main street, is having an asbestos roof placed on the house and having all the electric light and telephone wires placed in underground metal piping.

We Might Be Happy
Our life might be gay and happy if we would; but we eagerly seek subjects of application to render it fit and melancholy. We pass the first years of this life in the shades of ignorance, the succeeding ones in pain and labor, the latter part in grief and remorse, and the whole in error; nor do we suffer ourselves to possess one bright day without a cloud.—Petrarch.

Earliest Use of Gold
The use of gold as ornaments first suggested its subsequent use as money and that finally made it the standard upon which the coinage of the world is based. Cubes of gold employed by the Chinese may have been the earliest coins, but modern authorities accept the theory that gold as coins was first used by the Lydians.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)
New York—R. Scholte Douglas at times has kept himself supplied with money by selling letters and postcards of his father, Norman Douglas, British novelist. There is a market for them among collectors. As described by Mrs. Scholte, who is here with her husband for Christmas: "Postcards used to pay for lunches while the letters netted enough for night clubs and the opera."

Portland, Ore.—Joseph Shemanski, merchant, has established a fund of $2,746 to make rehabilitation loans to men leaving state prison.

New York—By order of a lighter, there are to wear Tuxedos when receiving patrons of Madison Square Garden to seats at lights. Colonel John S. Hammond, West Pointer, the Garden's new general manager, has introduced an innovation.

New York—The first lady of the Empire State is to wear velvet at the inauguration of her husband January 1 and at the Inaugural Ball. Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt's gown for the ball will be in her favorite shade of blue sheer velvet. The next day she will wear a two-piece velvet frock of simple distinction, a fur-trimmed coat and a hat of matching velvet.

St. Louis—Red Jackson, test pilot, is the barrel roll champion. He did 417 of them. The best previous was 283.

New York—Mrs. Pauline Horadnitsky claims to be a Carrie Nation. In court for smashing windows and furniture in a poolroom as well as decapitating George Washington's statue and taking one ear of Abraham Lincoln's, she said her husband had been spending all his money there on drink. The poolroom owner said he never sold liquor and would sue. Pauline was held for trial.

Washington—Eight doughboys who went to prison because they had been bad but who have been good recently are to receive freedom for a Christmas present. Their names are withheld. They will be informed at dinner next Tuesday, three at Fort Leavenworth, three at Alcatraz Island and two at Governor's Island.

New York—Frieda Hempel, opera and concert singer, insists that she is not married, that if she ever does get married there will be a formal announcement. Her statement was prompted by many inquiries after disclosure that Miss Frieda Helene Hempel had married Dr. Christian Heinrich Horst Fricke in the municipal building. The bride said she was born in Leipzig.

AIRPLANE FIELD TRIPS REVEAL BOTANY SECRETS

Evanson, Ill. (AP)—Botany field trips by air reveal colors not noticeable at closer range, says Dr. W. G. Waterman of Northwestern University, who has included such trips as a part of his instruction at this institution.

Maps of vegetation growth can be perfected from the air, and unsuspected differences in plant communities can be more readily detected. Doctor Waterman, associate professor of botany, has included an airplane trip along Lake Michigan's lower shore as one of the field trips for more advanced students.

Measuring progress of the floating mattress of vegetation which grows out over a body of water can be better done from an airplane, said Doctor Waterman. Photographing this at regular intervals from the air greatly will aid the botanist.

ALL WELL AT BRITISH LEGATION IN KABUL

New Delhi, India, Dec. 19 (AP)—Rebels were reported today to have seized two forts overlooking Kabul, capital of Afghanistan. They were awaiting re-enforcement to press their attack.

A British aeroplane was shot through the radiator and made a forced landing near Kabul. The plane had been attempting to establish communication with the British legation with a view to the evacuation of British and Indian women and children if necessary.

An aeroplane which flew over Kabul this morning returned this afternoon with the news that all was well at the British legation in the Afghan capital.

Conservation.—An economical mother has a young son who persists in bringing him-cups to the apple bin in the cellar. She told the generous lad to have the boys eat the mellow ones. He was heard telling the young hungry tribe, "Now, be sure and eat the mellow ones, because mother wants to keep the good ones."

At the Whitney Studio Galleries in New York City—Woodstockers included—Exhibit Has Fine Work.

(By F. G. Clough)
At the Whitney Studio Galleries, 19 West 5th Street, New York, there has just been opened to the public a holiday exhibit which includes water-colors, lithographs, etchings, drawings and paintings. There are a number of the artists from the Woodstock group of independents represented in this exhibition which should be of considerable interest not only as a Christmas sale, but for the variety of work displayed.

While members of the Woodstock group do not seem to lead in this showing of some 36 artists to both Ernest Flene and Harry Gottlieb should go praise for the excellency of their contributions. Their work ranks with the best shown in this gallery.

Flene's Work.—Ernest Flene has a black and white landscape which shows considerable talent in restraint; this artist has achieved a landscape which successfully solves technical problems, and as a finished work errs only in being a bit too emotional, although such an error will probably not be patent enough to mar the distinct position his work holds along with the rest of the pieces shown. Flene also shows a water color in red and blue, a painting of a ferry-boat coming past a red building, moving over the nearby (Kondout) creek. The conception of this is simple, the execution in keeping with the subject.

Harry Gottlieb has a dazzling still-life in a fine texture; the center grouping of his objects follows an architectural perfectness; the complication of border objects is easily offset by the intellectualized treatment of the subject matter.

Best Piece.—It seems to this writer that Blenden Campbell exhibits the most excellent work in this Whitney pre-Christmas show. Campbell shows several pieces, the notable one being a window-view from Paris, in which a table in the room from which the artist worked lends itself to solving a definite problem in design and perspective for his drawing. There is a clear-cut solution evident in this piece of work by Campbell; his achievement is that of an artist who has applied a mastery of his craft to his production.

Other Woodstockers.—To return to other Woodstockers represented here, one notes Peggy Bacon's satirical sketches, Pamela Bianco's illustrative drawings, Arnold Blanche's sincere paintings, Alexander Brook shows clever drawings; Emil Ganso has entered several of his figures, a la Jules Pascin, hardly holiday pieces, yet following a tad of a certain questionable sort. Georgina Klignard, whose husband has an original map of Greenwich Village hanging in the hallway of this same gallery, shows pleasant work. Still another Woodstocker is Rosella Hartman, who draws with a certain exquisiteness quite extraordinary, and one suspects with close kinship to personal charms. H. E. Schnakenberg has a still-life in which the grouping and technique are excellent; the show includes many other pieces by other contemporary artists which space forbids mentioning. To mention a few of the names: Louis Bouche, Glen O. Coleman, Leon Hartl, Max Kuehne, Yasuo Kuniyoshi, William Zorach.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Dec. 19 (AP)—With the call money market still showing no signs of the expected stringency, stock prices moved upward in impressive fashion today as buying orders were generously distributed over a wide list of copper, motor accessory, steel, automobile, merchandising, farm implement shares and specialties. At least two score issues moved up 2 to 5 points, with a sprinkling of others soaring 6 to 30 points.

Most of the day's trade news was bullish in character. The Iron Age's weekly review stated that "despite holiday and inventory considerations, steel output for the country at large is more than holding its own, although declines are reported at some plants." The Iron Age composite price for pig iron has declined slightly, the first drop since July. The copper trade reports large inquiries from the Western Union Company.

Case Threshing was the spectacular feature, soaring 36 points to 461. American Smelting jumped 12 points, Chicago Pneumatic Tool 10, American Zinc Preferred 8 and Electric Auto Lite, A. M. Byers, Rossa Insurance, Johns Manville, Commercial Solvents, Warren Brothers, Delaware and Hudson, Kennecott and International Nickel sold 5 to 7 points higher.

Wright Aeronautical soared 11 1/2 points in the early afternoon on the publication of testimony by Assistant Secretary of Commerce McCracken before a House committee that the Wright Company produced the largest number of airplane engines in the country.

New high prices for the year, or longer, were registered by National Bellas Hess Preferred, Granby Copper, Greene Cananea, Pittsburgh Coal, Electric Auto Lite and Eisenlohr.

National Bellas Hess common, which scored a sensational advance earlier in the week, broke 4 points on realizing, and a similar loss was recorded by Abitibi Power.

2 Veteran Police Heads Resign

New York, Dec. 19 (AP)—Grover Whalen's first full day as police commissioner was marked by the retirement of two veteran department heads who have been firmly entrenched in high police posts for many years.

The retired officials are Chief Inspector William J. Lacey and John D. Coughlin, chief of the detective division.

Whalen, sworn in yesterday noon to succeed Joseph A. Warren, who resigned after criticism of his department for its handling of the Arnold Rothstein case, arrived at his desk at 8:15 this morning.

Almost his first official act was the retirement of Lacey and Coughlin. The latter's retirement takes effect immediately and Lacey's on December 31, although he is removed from active duty today.

Whalen appointed Deputy Chief Inspector John O'Brien of The Bronx to succeed Lacey and Inspector Edward P. Mulrooney to succeed Coughlin.

Sergeant Patrick Fitzgibbon, who was reduced from the rank of lieutenant in charge of the Police Glee Club and Band as Warren's last official act, was reinstated by Whalen.

A fifth anniversary Mass will be offered for the repose of the soul of the late Thomas M. Grimes of Port Ewen at 7 o'clock Thursday morning at St. Mary's Church.

Members of St. Mary's Holy Rosary Society will meet at the late home of Mrs. Richard Murphy, 239 Hasbrouck avenue, Friday night at 8 o'clock to recite the Rosary for the repose of her soul.

Frederick Treis of Saugerties died at his home on Market street, Tuesday morning, aged 57 years. Besides his wife one daughter, Miss Rose Treis, survives. Funeral Friday at 2 p. m. with interment in Mt. View cemetery.

The funeral of Patrick Lenehan was held from the home of his sister, Mrs. Cornelius A. Fox, 27 Hemlock avenue, at 9 a. m. today and at St. Mary's Church at 9:30 o'clock, where a solemn Mass of requiem was offered for the repose of his soul by the Rev. John P. Neumann. The services were very largely attended by his many relatives, friends and neighbors and the floral tributes were many and beautiful testifying to the high esteem in which he was held by all who knew him.

The bearers were Nicholas Bruck, George Schick, Bernard Loughran, John Hoffman, Frank Mills and Michael McDonough. The interment was in the family plot in St. Peter's cemetery where the final absolution was given by the Rev. Joseph Huband.

ORCHARD CLEANINGS

PLANT IN WELL- PREPARED SOIL.

In preparing land for planting the ideal procedure is to plow deep and thoroughly pulverize with harrow or cultivator. A well-prepared piece of land makes planting easier and pays in increased growth and a better stand of plants. The plot may be marked off for planting in a number of different ways. Sometimes the disk or cultivator may be driven so as to mark the rows. Stakes may be set and a hand garden plow used or a home-made marker. Consideration should be taken as to whether cultivation is to be done by hand or by a one-horse or two-horse cultivator and the rows spaced accordingly. On irregular and rough land, where washing is apt to occur, it is a good idea to have the rows follow the contour of the land.

Apple, cherry and plum trees are handled and planted about the same, except in regard to planting distances. In the permanent apple orchard the trees should be planted 36 by 36 feet apart for best results. If fillers are used the planting is made 18 by 15 feet and every other tree is removed when crowding begins. Fillers are extra trees planted to fill in space not needed by the permanent orchard until later on. Fillers will give several good crops before it is necessary to remove them. Failure to remove them at the proper time will cause serious injury to the trees that are to be saved. Most varieties of cherries will do well planted 20 by 20 feet. Plums may be planted from 12 to 15 feet each way.

Fire Under Bar In Gallo's Place

Waste Paper Basket Under Bar In Leo Gallo's Place Caught Fire—Fighting Building With Smoke—Children Taken Out by John Long.

A waste paper basket that stood under the bar in the refreshment parlor of Leo Gallo at 6 Manhatt street caught fire from some unknown cause at 11:20 o'clock this morning, and the fire communicated to the bar itself which was somewhat damaged, the fire burning a hole through the side of it. An alarm of fire was turned in from Box 44, to which the fire department responded and confined the fire to the bar itself, which was damaged.

The smoke filled the entire building. The upper floor is occupied by the Gallo family and at the time of the fire the three small Gallo children were upstairs. John Long who saw the smoke and fire rushed into the building and up the stairs and had carried the three children out of the building by the time the firemen arrived. When Long entered the living apartments upstairs he found them filled with dense smoke. To rid the rooms of smoke he burst a glass in a window with his hand, which was cut by the broken glass.

$19,000,000 for Census Bureau

One of Biggest Single Items in Appropriation Bill Submitted for State, Justice, Labor and Commerce Departments.

Washington, Dec. 19 (AP)—The approach of the time when the Census Bureau will begin its fifteenth decennial counting of humans and compilation of other statistics was brought officially to the notice of Congress today when the house was asked by its appropriations committee to provide $19,000,000 for the job.

The figure is one of the biggest single items in the appropriation bill submitted today for the state, justice, labor and commerce departments, and accounts largely for the increase of $21,205,551 over current appropriations. For the four departments the committee asked $111,779,587, having pared the budget estimates by $94,460.

For each department the bill provides as follows:

State, $14,600,478, an increase of $275,475 over current funds and a decrease of $3,120 from budget estimates; justice, $27,944,370, an increase of $1,136,307 and decrease of $159,200; commerce, $58,529,609, increase of $20,147,079 and increase of $62,960; labor, $10,715,430, decrease of $352,910 and increase of $5,900.

Important items for the commerce department include: for establishing and maintaining civil airways, $490,000 for promoting of trade with South and Central America; $18,840 for prevention of overcrowding of passenger vessels; $85,700 for investigation of radio communication; $422,000 for investigation of mine accidents; $100,000 for potash explorations, and $75,000 for investigation of helium production.

For the justice department, $2,307,720 is provided for detection and prosecution of crimes, including dry law violations; $1,930,000 for salaries of judges; and the following amounts for penal and correctional institutions:

Leavenworth, Kan., $1,086,910; Atlanta, $223,319; McNeil Island, Wash., $446,872; Federal Industrial Institution for Women, Alderson, W. Va., $293,210; United States Industrial Reformatory, Chillicothe, Ohio, $481,320.

For the state department $2,000,000 is provided for Foreign Service buildings; $167,219 for the Pan-American Union; $28,597 for the Pan-American Sanitary Bureau; and $250,000 for the 15th annual payment to Panama for rights granted in the construction of the Panama Canal.

Under the heading of contingent expenses for the state department, the committee inserted a provision which would permit the subcommittee in charge of appropriations for the state and commerce departments to go abroad to examine the needs of these branches of the government.

The largest item for the department of labor is $7,915,000 for administering the Immigration Act.

Control San Jose Scale by Best Winter Spray

The proper type of oil spray, properly diluted and applied, has given better control of San Jose scale than has been the case with lime-sulphur. These sprays are cheaper than any other of the dormant sprays, and in addition to controlling scale, can, if properly used, be depended upon for control of the fruit tree leaf roller and some other insects. If properly made from the right class of oils, and properly diluted, there is practically no injury to apple or peach where oil sprays are applied in the dormant.

For the past five or six years, many commercial orchards have been sprayed with the oil sprays each year without the slightest sign of injury. In the delayed dormant spray, nicotine sulphate may be combined with some of the oil sprays of the first two classes and used at a strength of 1 to 2,000, with very good results against aphids. It will cost only from one-half to two-thirds as much to spray an orchard with the oil sprays as is the case with lime-sulphur. Summer oils are promising, but more experience with this class of sprays is needed before any very definite recommendations can be made.

Improving Vineyard by Attention to Details

When the vineyard has ceased to produce in the abundance that is to be expected from the really good vineyard, there are four important steps to consider in bringing it back into high production.

The first of these is proper drainage of the land. To the commercial grower of considerable experience, this is of prime importance. Following this, put into practice the control of insects and diseases affecting the vineyard. In the control of some of the insects and diseases it may be necessary to turn to cultural practices of course, but in any case, after the cultural practices comes the question of commercial and natural fertilizer.

According to experiments in New York, properly drained and cultivated vineyards in which insect pests and diseases are held in check by careful spraying, may be benefited materially by the addition of nitrogen.

Eight Grape Varieties for Starting Vineyard

Eight varieties of grapes deserve special consideration in setting out new vineyards, according to Dr. U. P. Hedrick of the New York agricultural experiment station at Geneva. These varieties, named in order of their ripening, are Portland, Ontario, Worden, Delaware, Niagara, Concord, Sheridan and Catawba.

The Portland and Ontario are two early green grapes developed by the station and are claimed to be superior in quality of fruit and sturdiness of vine to any other early green grape. These two early sorts, with Niagara, a midseason variety, make an excellent combination for either home or commercial plantings.

Best Pruning Tools

The two most important pruning tools are the survival pruning saw and the pruning shears. With these two implements the grower may handle the pruning work efficiently in a young orchard. After the trees reach the bearing age and there is occasion to do more and heavier pruning work, other pruning tools will facilitate the task. A larger pruning saw, a pair of long-handled shears or hoppers and other implements may be needed and used effectively.

Quality of Leadership

Progress is the slogan of the world. And progress usually is the result of some one's imagination. It takes broad vision to give us something new, something better. That is why leadership goes to men who can see farthest.—Grit.

HOPE PLUS LETTER TO BOLIVIA AND PARAGUAY

Rome, Dec. 19 (AP).—A letter which Hope Plus sent to the presidents of Bolivia and Paraguay in connection with his recent efforts looking toward a peaceful solution of their border dispute was made public today. It read:

"News which has reached us from the two republics has profoundly affected us because it makes us unfortunately fear that solution of the conflict may be entrusted to arms. As the representative on earth of Him who with his advent brought peace among men of good will and as the spiritual father of both peoples, with very dear to us, we appeal to our Christian sentiments and those of your government and people to do everything in your power in order to spare your countries and humanity the scourge of war, of which it is always difficult to measure the consequences.

"In this sense, we pray and will pray to the Almighty and it is with his wish that we send to you and your entire people our parental benediction."

ANIMAL POISONERS AT WORK IN ORANGE COUNTY

State, county and township authorities are investigating recent attempts to poison farm animals in Orange county. In the town of Warwick four cows on the Seeley-Weeden farm near Edenville have died of arsenate of lead poisoning, while a valuable draught horse of Robert Goellet near Glenmere Lake died in agony last Sunday from eating fodder that was doctored with Paris green. Several suspects are being checked up. It is thought that persons familiar with the routine on the farms where the animals died are accountable.

DECLARE KING AMANULLAH FAILED TO PAY HIS ARMY

London, Dec. 19 (AP).—The trouble that King Amanullah of Afghanistan is having in suppressing revolts was said in newspaper dispatches today to be due to his failure to pay his army.

A dispatch from Lahore, India, asserted the army had not been paid for some time and that soldiers had deserted to join the rebels, who were arrayed against the king chiefly because of his introduction of western ideas, such as decreeing that women should go unveiled.

The Daily Mail printed a dispatch from Bombay saying the standing army of 35,000 was disaffected because of insufficient pay. The king's ministers were trying to raise mercenary forces.

Karachi dispatch to the Daily Express quoted an unnamed merchant from Kabul, capital of Afghanistan, as saying it was generally believed in Afghanistan that the king used army funds to pay for his many purchases of modern manufacture in Europe during his tour early this year.

It was claimed that the army had not been paid for three months and that the king's high-handed methods had antagonized even members of his staff.

The Daily Mail said that the chief hope of King Amanullah lay in the approach of wintry weather and heavy snows, since the revolting tribesmen have no equipment for campaigning under such conditions.

The position of Europeans in Afghanistan was understood to be causing considerable uneasiness, although so far as could be learned there was no feeling among the rebels against any foreign legation. A Lahore dispatch said the Europeans in Kabul were experiencing considerable discomfort because of severe winter weather. Fire-wood is always extremely expensive there and the supply of canned provisions, on which Europeans largely depend, is not large.

The people of Tazoo, near Kabul, were said to have joined in the insurrection because of horror at the king's decree that their women should go unveiled and that their girls should go to school.

Market for Fruits And Vegetables

New York, Dec. 19.—(State Department of Agriculture and Markets).—Today's short supply of Florida fresh string beans sold more readily on the local wholesale district and prices advanced, especially on fancy tender stock. The very finest green and was beans peddled out at $4.50 per 25-quart hamper. Inferior stock ranged from $1-$3.50.

Supplies of bunched carrots from California were moderate and values were sustained. Sales were reported within the range of $2.75-$3.75 per crate of about four and five dozen bunches.

Receipts of bunched beets from Texas were more liberal and prices tended downward in a slightly weaker market. Cakes of four to five dozen bunches realized $4.25-$5.

Receipts of spinach from Virginia were quite generous. The stock was uniformly poor and received scant attention. Fancy stock was eagerly sought. Bushel baskets wholesaled at 50-75 cents with some fancy as high as $1.

Fresh green peas were in moderate receipt from California and Mexico. Despite the long haul, the peas lose little if any of their sweetness or tenderness, being packed in layers of crushed ice. SIX MEN ENTOMBED FOLLOWING EXPLOSION

Drakesboro, Ky., Dec. 19 (AP).—The volunteer rescue crews early today were struggling to clear away an avalanche of rock and debris deep in the coal mine of the Black Diamond Company, to reach six men entombed following an explosion last night. Scant hope was felt that the imprisoned men would be found alive.

A portion of the mine ceiling gave way about 7:30 o'clock last night, and in crashing is believed to have set off a gas pocket. This was followed by an extensive collapse of debris which closed the passage.

Eight men were working near the point where the blast occurred. Two of them were about 500 feet from the others and reached the surface uninjured. The blast occurred between the two working groups, at a point about 4,000 feet from the entry.

Large Crop of New Talent In Baseball Camps

New York, Dec. 15 (AP).—At least 100 ambitious young baseball players will drop in on baseball training camps of the eight National League clubs next spring and try to break into the major league box scores. A large number of men who have had trials before under the big top will be on hand for another chance, and a few stars in the senior loop will be on familiar ground wearing strange uniforms.

The Boston Braves, with a chance to make 19 changes in its personnel, will have the largest crop of new talent. Some critics of the Braves' baseball behavior last season may be upbraid enough to say they need it. In addition to the hard-hitting Hornsby, who moved by the trade route, the Chicago Cubs have combed the highways and hedges of the minors for untrained players and recalled a number who have been found wanting at least temporarily in other years.

Changes of clubs because of trades have sent Rogers Hornsby from the Braves to the Cubs and transferred Fred Maguire, Percy Jones, Louis Sargent and Harry Siebold to Boston. Pittsburgh gave Glenn Wright to Brooklyn for Jess Petty and Harry Riccio. Tommy Thevenow will take Heinie Sand's place at shortstop for the Phillies.

The St. Louis Cardinals will attach fewer players to the club than any other major league outfit, but unless plans miscarry two of the infielders brought on from Cardinal farms, Shortstop Gilbert and Second Baseman Selph, will find steady jobs awaiting them. Two other new Redbirds were recalled. Mancuso, a catcher, comes from Minneapolis and Herman Bell, right handed pitcher, from Rochester. Elliott from Waco and Hallahan from Houston are other pitchers.

In addition to the four former Cubs and Catcher Pat Collins from the Yanks the Braves will be privileged to inspect the wares of many up and coming youngsters. P. B. James, a second baseman, batted .323, stole 50 bases and hit 16 home runs for Omaha last season. C. Fitzberger, a first sacker, was called from York and E. B. Clark is on his way back from Providence with an impressive batting mark of .375.

The Phillies have high hopes of Thevenow and some of the promising players developed last year striking a winning combination. H. H. Peel, from Boston, has a good chance to take an outfield post. E. W. Caldwell, a pitcher, was purchased from Waco.

Charles Tolson, the big first baseman, will be back with the Cubs after batting .351 in 150 games for Los Angeles. Blair, a second baseman, advances from Little Rock and Tim Angley, a hard hitting catcher, will be up from Atlanta.

New Chicago pitchers are D. L. Cunningham, Los Angeles; Mike Cuyegros, recalled from Wichita Falls; C. Day, Omaha; R. E. Hansen, Elmira; V. Welch, Reading; E. Holley, Louisville; Berly Horne, Jersey City.

Pittsburgh, long without a capable left-hander, now has two, Petty and Lawrence French, purchased from Portland, in the Pacific Coast League.

The Giants have a wide variety from which to choose replacements. Several hard-hitting outfielders are in the list.

Cincinnati has much new material, including half a dozen pitchers. Brooklyn has a flock of 300 hitters coming up.

ST. JOHN'S BOYS LOSE OUT TO TROJANS IN LAST HALF

Last Thursday night at St. John's court the Trojans registered a 49-19 victory over St. John's Boys' Club. St. John's held a 17-10 lead at the end of the first half but were unable to stop a concentrated scoring attack made by Thomas, Lewis and Rosenberg of the Trojans in the second session. These players gleamed 14, 11 and 10 points respectively. R. Hazenbush, who corralled 8 markers, was high scorer for St. John's.

The Trojans are anxious to book games with teams in this city, between the ages of 14 and 16 years.

Hoppe May Win Another Crown

Chicago, Dec. 19 (AP).—Willie Hoppe, who, for almost a quarter of a century, has been winning billiard titles, tonight gets a chance to win the only one that has escaped him—the world's three-cushion crown.

Steady and yet spectacular, Hoppe has stroked his way to two triumphs in the championship round robin tournament at Orchestra Hall, winning the right to meet the defending titleholder, Johnny Layton, Sedalia, Mo., in the deciding match tonight.

Ralph Greenleaf, New York, has clinched at least a tie for the pocket billiard championship, which he is defending at the two-title tournament. Victorious in his two matches, Greenleaf alone remains undefeated.

Should he be upset tonight by Frank Taberski, Schenectady, N. Y., in the final match, the least he can get is a tie. Taberski, Pasquale Natale, and Erwin Rudolph, his challengers, have been defeated.

In meeting Layton for the title, Hoppe has an opportunity for revenge. In the championship tournament here last spring, Hoppe came to the championship finals with the Sedalia fisherman but was defeated.

The defeat of Taberski by Pasquale Natale, Baltimore, 87 to 125, last night was the upset of the pocket billiard play. Conceding to be the only one seriously to threaten Greenleaf's crown, Taberski fell before Natale's great shots and was behind all the way.

The upset makes possible a triple for the pocket billiard title. If Taberski defeats Greenleaf and Natale defeats Rudolph, who is out with two defeats, the three will be tied with two victories and one defeat each.

Barnyard Golf Experts to Meet

St. Petersburg, Fla., Dec. 19.—Men with flowing whiskers and un-bearded youths just out of rompers, holders of city, county and state horse shoe pitching championships will gather here early in February for the tenth annual "barnyard golf" tournament for the world's championship and $1,500 in cash prizes.

Getting under way on the morning of February 4, the tournament conducted under the older and more popular "round robin" rules, will continue through the week until each contestant has played every other entrant one fifty-point game. The player getting the largest total number of points will be proclaimed champion and will receive the largest cut of the money, along with a gold medal.

C. C. Davis, present title holder, a Columbus, O., carpenter, will again defend his title. This little keen-eyed twirler of the iron footwear has held the championship at the end of more tournaments than any other of the outstanding contenders.

Among the stars who will enter into competition here next February include Frank Jackson, Kellerton, Ia., and his two sons, Frank Dargue, Wichita, Kan., Jimmy Risk, Montpelier, Ind., Putt Mossman, Rochester, N. Y., George May, Akron, O., and Harry J. Borne, Atlantic City.

The contests this winter will be held in Waterfront Park, the spring training camp of the Boston Braves National Leaguers. Pitching lanes, five of them, will be placed in front of the grand stand and stakes will be driven into the clay, forty feet apart.

In previous tournaments, Harold Falor and George Mays, both of Akron and both former champions, have pitched through "round robin" tournaments without losing a game. They turned in perfect cards.

Davis, the present champ, is regarded in barnyard golf circles as the most consistent ringier pitcher in the entire field. His average of "collars" is 4 to 3 or seventy-five per cent ringers. He has pitched ringers blindfolded in exhibition matches and is regarded as the favorite in the coming meet.

HUPMOBILES LOSE OUT TO MARGARETVILLE TEAM

One of the most hotly contested games of basketball played at Salvation Army Hall this season was the Hupmobile-Margaretville tilt played Tuesday night. The mountaineers took the bacon, 43-42, after the Hupmobiles put up an exceptionally hard fight in the second half. Stumpf's shooting, of the long range variety, kept the Hups in the running. This player scored 20 points on 10 field baskets. De Silva with 16 markers was the highest point-getter for Margaretville.

The Hupmobiles challenge any A. A. U. team in this city or vicinity. Arrangements for games may be made by communicating with Manager G. F. Sagendorf, care of the Hupmobile Sales & Service, 115 North Front street.

DUGAN WILL BE GIVEN UNCONDITIONAL RELEASE

New York, Dec. 19 (AP).—"Jumping Joe" Dugan's baseball career, so far as the New York Yankees are concerned, appears to be at an end.

The famous third baseman, veteran of 12 American League campaigns and of five world's series, is to be given his unconditional release, according to reliable authority. Some reports had it that Dugan already had been released but it was learned later that no official announcement has been made as yet.

It was commonly understood that it had been agreed that since Dugan was a 10-year man his unconditional release would be given. He expects to be able to land a major league berth despite the fact that his legs have failed him of recent years. Brooklyn or Chicago, of the National League, it is understood, would be glad to obtain the former Holy Cross star's services.

Joe jumped into professional baseball from Holy Cross with the Philadelphia Athletics in 1917. He remained with the A's until 1922 when he was traded to Boston and still later in the same year to the Yankees where he was an effective defensive cog in the machine ever since.

Merchants Bowl Tonight.

In an Uptown Merchants' Bowling League match at the Y. M. C. A. tonight, Bernsteins will meet the Grand Union team at 9 o'clock.

Cleanup of Texas Oil-Boom Town

Thirty Resorts Closed and Scores of Citizens and Transients Held—Liquor, Gambling, Narcotic Violations and Auto Theft Charged.

Wink, Texas, Dec. 19 (AP).—Thirty resorts were closed here today and scores of citizens and transients were held for law violations, or for questioning, following the greatest drive on lawlessness this turbulent oil-boom town has known. Violations of liquor, gambling, narcotic and auto theft laws are alleged.

Attracted by the commotion which a private feud between rum runners and hijackers aroused here, federal, state and local officers converged on the town in force last night and proceeded to a swift and business-like cleanup.

While the federal dry agents and customs and narcotic inspectors and Dyer Act investigators sought violations of national laws, Texas Rangers enforced the state gambling laws by raiding and closing 11 alleged gambling resorts. Three of the resorts were said to be establishments with no limit on betting.

The dry agents made 25 arrests on liquor charges in 18 resorts and the narcotic inspectors reaped a good harvest of suspects.

The raids came with such startling suddenness that all the town's resorts were caught by surprise. Officers were handicapped for a time with handling prisoners in wholesale lots.

The concerted drive was precipitated by the kidnapping last week of P. C. Burcham, local cafe owner, by rum runners seeking revenge on hijackers for the confiscation of a $500,000 cargo of liquor being brought in from the Mexican border.

Burcham, alleged leader of the hijackers, was found yesterday after a 36-hour search in which 100 men participated.

He had been bound and left to die in an isolated water trough in the semi-desert, but managed to free himself from his bonds and escape. In attempting to return to civilization he became lost and wandered for two days without food or water.

When found Burcham was unable to talk coherently because of hysteria and exhaustion.

Later he charged several Wink men with his kidnapping. Those charged retaliated by saying Burcham had led a gang which stole and hid the valuable cargo of liquor, and that he had been seized and left in the desert in an effort to get him to the hiding place. The men they had not intended to allow Burcham to die of exposure.

Directly following this Exchange-Sheriff "Pecos Bill" Priest arrested a dozen reported members of the rum running and hijacking gangs. Burcham and his alleged companions were charged with robbery and theft in connection with the holdup, while the others were charged with kidnapping.

Wink, one of the newest of the Texas boom towns along the oil frontier, is located in an isolated stretch of West Texas mesquite waste, and attempts to curb lawlessness by local authorities and Rangers have not had any lasting effect.

SAYS LANGUAGE SHOULD BE TAUGHT AS SCIENCE
Laramie, Wyo., (AP).—Language is the instrument with which man has built his civilization. The most important difference between Billie and his dog is that Billie uses language and his dog does not.

Language enables the individual to make the necessary adjustment to his environment, but more important still, it is the tool with which he fashions his own personality.

When Max Muller delivered his lectures on language at Oxford, he recognized the function of man, and in the development of man, and added that it was a "disgrace that in our general system of education, and even of elementary education, no place should have been found as yet for the Science of Language."

If he were to address an American audience today, he could make the same statement. At no place in our school system is there provision to teach, except to a select few, the value and the nature of our most precious inheritance.

What we do teach is the mere etiquette of language behavior. Important, but no more related to the "teaching of language" than rules of deportment are related to a course in hygiene and physiology. In this day of science, we ignore the science of language, the science which is most intimately related to our racial culture and to our mental growth.

Language is a normal function, and a body of facts and rules to be learned. We "teach" a function when we bring its processes into consciousness, evaluate them, and give more adequate controls. Any five-year-old knows more language facts than we try to teach him in the schools, facts of word order, word formation, the ways in which words get meanings, the curious shifts these meanings undergo, the relation of words and sentence idioms to his thinking, etc. But he does not know that he knows these things.

To "teach" him language is to make him conscious of these language facts, to systematize and evaluate them. This is to put him in command of the instrument of his thought, the tool of his mental development. This is the science for which we make no provision in our educational system.
